Staff Officers Begin Mapping Buffer Zone; Allied Camp Hopes For Truce By Christmas

Russia Claims Plane Crossed Into Siberia

Navy announced yesterday a twin-engined weather reconnaissance plane has been missing since Nov. 6 with its crew of 10. There are signs that it was shot down into the sea of Japan by Russian fighters.

A short time before the Navy issued its report, it was disclosed that Russia protested to the United States Nov. 7 that an American reconnaissance-type plane crossed the Siberian border, was chased and fired upon by Russian fighters, and was last seen disappearing toward the sea.

In answer to press inquiries about the Soviet protest, the Navy said a twin-engined bomber on United Nations weather reconnaissance patrol was missing and presumed lost. The Navy did not say the aircraft had been shot down by the Russians. Nor did it say in what area it was lost.

It described the plane as a Neptune P2V Lockheed, a long-range patrol bomber designed primarily for weather and other reconnaissance and for anti-submarine work.

Presumably it was based in Japan, about 600 miles from Vladivostok. The big Russian naval port lies about 70 miles northeast of the short strip of border between North Korea and Siberia.

"The matter is still under searching investigation," the Navy stated. Another indication that the American plane may have been shot into the sea was the decorations just awarded in Moscow to two Soviet Navy fliers for "exemplary fulfillment of their service duties."

The award of the medals was prominently displayed in the Moscow press without disclosing what the pilots did to get them. Inquiry here, despite restrictions of official secrecy in effect for more than two weeks, brought out evidence of the Soviet protest about the alleged border incident. Responsible authorities here said they believe the Vladivostok protest almost certainly concerns the action for which the pilots were decorated.

The whole affair bears a striking resemblance to Soviet fighter destruction of a U. S. Navy "Privateer" plane 20 months ago. The Russian government also claimed that plane had flown over its territory, but the United States said the ship had been shot down by Red fighters while on a routine flight over the open Baltic sea.

Search Fails To Find Plane

Rome (AP) — Air and ground search parties looked in vain yesterday for some trace of the U. S. Air Force C-47 cargo plane that disappeared with four men Monday on a flight from Munich to Belgrade.

A mystery woman's report in Vienna that she had seen the plane shot down by Romanian border guards was discounted as "very doubtful" by a U. S. legation spokesman in Vienna and the Romanian Foreign office denied knowledge of such incident.

She telephoned her story to the legation, but could not be tracked down. The spokesman said she telephoned the legation again later, saying she had to fly back to Romania yesterday.

Another unconfirmed report to search headquarters at Treviso airport in northeast Italy said a farmer heard a violent explosion near Pieve di Cadore in the Italian Alps Monday and believed it might have been a plane crash.

To Halt Concessions

Washington (AP) — President Truman yesterday ordered an end to trade concessions for Soviet Russia and Communist-run Poland. He also directed an embargo on imports of several types of furs from Russia and Red China.

Truman Tops In Taxes

Washington (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday that the Truman administration has collected more taxes from the American people than all previous administrations put together.

THE 1951 COMMUNITY CHEST campaign was enriched yesterday by a generous $125 contribution "on behalf of the American-Italian community and the Italian Mutual Benefit association's Stroudsburg club." Joseph Fasino, president of the club, advised William S. Wyckoff, campaign chairman: "We know we must do our part in this great effort to maintain agency services so essential to citizens of this region."

Rise In Cost Of Living Index Gives Auto Workers Cent-An-Hour Wage Boost

Washington (AP) — The government's cost of living index climbed to still another new high October 15, reaching a point 10.1 per cent above the prices prevailing just before the Korean war.

As a result of the rise, a million auto workers will get a penny-an-hour wage boost through "escalator" clauses in their contracts, hatched to the rise-and-fall of the government index. That one cent an hour, if not taken away by a later drop in the index, will cost the auto industry 20 million dollars the next year, on the basis of the 40-hour work week.

Civilians May Get Less Beef

Washington (AP) — The government yesterday ordered the meat industry to set aside beef for the armed forces.

The Office of Price Stabilization directed that the 1,725 federally-inspected slaughterers must give the military first chance to buy the excess of beef slaughtered in one month over the kill in the same month a year earlier.

In December, for instance, a slaughterer must make available for military purchase a quantity of beef equal to his additional cattle kill in November over his slaughter of November 1950.

Next January, the military priority will cover the excess between December 1951 over December 1950.

The Army Quartermaster Corps recently estimated that it needs 48,000,000 pounds of beef immediately to build up its reserves.

The corps said its stocks would be low through next March, unless it got more beef. The principal military supply shortage is in the continental United States.

Reds Warn Middle East Countries

Moscow (AP) — Russia announced yesterday she has warned Middle East nations against joining the defense command which the United States, Britain, France and Turkey propose to set up in that region.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told diplomats of six Arab nations and the Jewish State of Israel the projected middle east arm of the North Atlantic treaty organization "has nothing in common with maintaining peace and security."

Any who join will damage their relations with Russia, he said.

Western diplomatic observers in the Soviet capital viewed the declaration as a part of a general Russian diplomatic drive against NATO and its affiliated organizations.

Stiff notes sent recently to Norway and Turkey, which border on Soviet territory, were regarded as part of this drive. Russia charged that Norway was violating her treaty obligations and making Spitzbergen and Bear Islands, in the Arctic Ocean northwest of Murmansk, available to Atlantic pact forces. Turkey's adherence to the Atlantic pact was protested.

(Norway denied the islands are to be militarized. Turkey told Russia that an examination of the Soviet conscience should show why the Turks are joining the Atlantic pact.)

Gromyko handed notes on the middle east command Wednesday to the envoys of Israel, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and Iraq. The Soviet government's position was relayed Thursday through Cairo to the governments of Saudi Arabia and Yemen.

All these and the British-sponsored Arab Kingdom of Jordan have been advised by western authorities of plans for the command, which provide—among other things—for an international military force to replace the present British garrison in the Suez Canal zone.

Cabinet-Maker Coining Too Much Money

Baltimore (AP) —Salvator Volpe, 25, said yesterday he intended to jump off a bridge 100 feet high because "I am making too much money and don't know what to do with it."

Two policemen pulled Volpe off a ledge on the bridge after talking 10 minutes to him.

Volpe told Magistrate Reuben Caplan afterward he was despondent because he couldn't spend his money as fast as he makes it. He said he tried unsuccessfully to blow it in on women and drinking.

"That is a very unusual reason for doing something rash," Magistrate Caplan told Volpe. He ordered the defendant to see a lawyer and doctor before returning Sunday for hearing on a disorderly conduct charge.

Patrolman Edward Walter and William Erdman spotted Volpe sitting on a ledge of the bridge over a railroad. He warned them to leave him alone and they couldn't reach him because of an intervening railing.

The cops talked to Volpe for 10 minutes and pulled him to safety when he stood up.

Volpe told the magistrate he operated a cabinet-making business with seven employees. He said he is separated from his wife.

Ridgway Advised U. N. Of 8,000 Atrocity Cases

Washington (AP) — Gen. Matthew Ridgway informed the United Nations weeks ago his headquarters had received and was investigating reports that 8,000 American soldiers were murdered by Chinese and North Korean Communists, the Defense Department said last night.

General Ridgway, who is United Nations supreme commander in the Far East, informed the U. N. that the atrocity reports covered a period up to July 20.

Ridgway was described as having said that while the total of reports received from various sources and in various forms added up to about 8,000, the number of atrocity cases upon which exact evidence had been obtained up to July 20 numbered about 400.

Embezzlement Of $43,847 Is Charged

Gettysburg (AP) — Seventy-eight checks totaling $43,847 were produced in Adams county court yesterday to show that the former manager of the Adams County Egg cooperative appropriated its funds.

The checks were cited by District Attorney Daniel A. Teeter in the case against Albert Eberight, charged with embezzling the agency's money.

Eberight admitted in testimony that "possibly $36,611" went to himself either as loans or in commissions—the latter totaling only about $1,000. The remaining $7,000 he said he thought went for payment of an agency debt.

Eberight declared that it was "understood" by the board of directors that he could take the cooperative's money and put it in his own account.

He showed some 65 checks and money orders totaling about $55,000 which he said went from his own account to pay obligations of the cooperative.

Eberight is charged with 30 counts of embezzlement, 30 counts of fraudulent conversion and with issuance of a worthless check.

France Promised New Dollar Aid

Paris (AP) — The United States has promised new, immediate and sizeable dollar aid to France to fend off a threatening economic crisis that could disrupt this country's rearmament efforts.

Authoritative American sources here said the amount of the immediate grant, which will be a part of the sum France would get under a new mutual aid bill passed by Congress, will not be decided for some weeks.

France needs about $650 million in assistance this year to keep up the pace the whole western world is setting in rearming itself against the threat of Communist aggression—and to do it without throwing the country's whole precarious economic system off balance.

15 Killed In Arsenal Explosions

Copenhagen, Denmark (AP) — A series of violent explosions in the Danish Navy's Copenhagen harbor arsenal killed at least 15 persons and injured 70 others last night. Most of the dead were firemen.

Speculation that sabotage may have been responsible was aroused when Police Commissioner J. Odmar imposed a complete blackout on information about the fire and explosion after he had started an investigation.

Five buildings collapsed, burying several dead and injured firemen. Then the flames caught amid the wreckage, making the arsenal area a horrifying scene of fire and death as dynamite charges exploded.

Panic broke out in the nearby quarters of 1,100 Danish Marines who were asleep when the roof over the dormitories collapsed. The yelling Marines fought to get out, knocking their buddies down right and left.

Ambulance sirens wailed through the streets of downtown Copenhagen for hours after the blast, taking the dying and injured firemen, Marines and bystanders to three hospitals. Doctors were called in from all over the city to perform operations in emergency operating rooms.

Only a few firemen were available at the spot after the explosions to tell what actually had occurred. The others who saw it were injured or dying in hospitals.

U. S. Paying Red Traitors, Says Russia

Paris (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky accused the United States yesterday of paying and arming Red traitors. He declared these acts constitute aggression against the Soviet bloc countries and unprecedented interference in their internal affairs.

The charges were made in an explanatory note published to bolster the bare notice Thursday that the Russians would attack the 1951 mutual security act of the United States in the U. N. General assembly.

The new blast caused some U. N. delegates to speculate that Vishinsky was attempting to draw attention from the disarmament issue before the assembly. He is billed to give Moscow's answer in the 60-nation political committee tomorrow to detailed western proposals for arms limitation and a census of all weapons, including atomic bombs.

Informed sources speculated he will reject most of the western ideas, but will not close the door against continued debate.

Secretary of State Acheson expressed hope that Vishinsky would give a "serious and cooperative response that will lead to progress in this important field."

Acheson made this comment in a statement issued as he left Paris for the meetings of the North Atlantic treaty council in Rome.

Three Issues Still Remain To Be Settled

Munsan, Korea, Saturday (AP) — Allied and Red staff officers hoped to complete at Panmunjom late today the job of mapping the line where the shooting might stop in Korea by Christmas.

They went to work yesterday as subcommittees agreed, after nearly four months of wrangling, on a Korean buffer zone to follow the battle line.

The staff officers met again at 10 a.m. today (8 p.m., Friday, EST), at Panmunjom to continue their discussions.

The Allies aimed for approval of the cease-fire line by the subcommittees and the full truce delegations by Sunday. Then both sides could leave behind this first obstacle—and move on to three more which could prove just as troublesome.

Allies Retake Hill Position Lost To Reds

Seoul, Korea, Saturday (AP) — Allied infantrymen recaptured a strategic hill on the western front early today 12 hours after they lost it to a regiment of Chinese Reds.

Sub-freezing weather blanketed the front as fresh United Nations soldiers pushed past exhausted Allies still pulling back from the "Little Gibraltar," west of Yonchon and about 35 miles north of Seoul.

The mercury dipped to 14 degrees above zero, freezing the cold rain which fell along the battlefront Friday.

In a second action, two Chinese companies attacked an Allied position southwest of Yonchon shortly after midnight. They moved in behind a heavy barrage of artillery but the United Nations troops held their ground and hurled the Reds back about 4 a.m.

Possibility Arises Of Hiking Rate Of Pay Phones

Philadelphia (AP) — There is a possibility that pay station telephone calls in Pennsylvania may be raised from a nickel to a dime.

To be prepared for such a shift the Bell Telephone Co. said it is making necessary changes in its toll box equipment.

In a statement released yesterday the company said: "Inasmuch as there is a possibility that at some time in the future it might be necessary to raise the minimum rate for coin box calls from five to 10 cents, as has been done in New York, Detroit and Chicago, the company is making necessary changes in the equipment to make that possible."

The company gave no hint when it would seek the increase, if at all. Approval of the Pennsylvania Public Utility commission is necessary.

Dies In Freak Mishap

Princeton, Ind., (AP) — Jerry Lee Walters, 14, was twirling an 18-foot piece of wire yesterday when it kinked and one end passed through his head just above the left ear, killing him.

He is David Yerke, 28, who vanished from his sponge fishing boat without a trace in the Gulf of Mexico off Tarpon Springs, Fla., Dec. 26, 1945.

"We can wait until the fog clears from his mind. There's no hurry. We're together again."

Hopes for an early settlement on the full cease-fire program were nevertheless riding high in the United Nations camp.

The subcommittees Friday reached final agreement on the formula for settling the buffer zone problem—an issue that had stalled the truce talks since July 27. The talks actually opened July 10 but required the first 17 days to agree on an agenda.

The Allies stepped up their drive for an early truce a week ago. Concessions by both sides brought Friday's accord.

In the main, it provides:

One—The present points of battle contact will mark the center of a two and one-half mile buffer zone if an armistice is signed in 30 days. Any changes caused by battle action in the interim would be disregarded.

Two—If more than 30 days are required to agree on all armistice matters, any battle line changes will be incorporated just before the signing.

Fighting will continue until a full armistice is reached.

Friday night, after the subcommittee had reached their accord, a Chinese regiment stormed through rain and mud up to a key peak 35 miles north of Seoul and drove off Allied defenders in hand-to-hand fighting.

On the map that the U. S. Eighth army uses for strategic planning, the present battle line goes roughly like this from east to west:

It starts on the east coast three miles south of Kaesong, at a point more than 40 miles north of parallel 38.

It traces southwest 10 miles to a point near the village of Sachon; then west-southwest for 18 miles to just below Munding; west-northwest 15 miles to the upper Pukhan river; northwest two to three miles, then due west for about 10 miles just south of Kumsong; southwest 10 miles to a point about three miles north of Kumhwa; west 15 miles to a point about five miles northwest of Chorwon; southwest for 35 miles down to and south of parallel 38 to the mouth of the Imjin river where it joins the Han; then along the north shore of the Han Estuary to the Yellow sea.

This line is only an approximation based on major fronts. The actual line winds and twists between these major points.

Bonn To Join In Defense Plan

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Adenauer predicted last night that a peace settlement granting the Germans full partnership with the West and share in its defense will be completed by January.

"The world will be protected by this agreement from a third world war," he said.

The German leader said that when the West German Parliament has ratified the new agreement "Germany will have declared herself irrevocably for the West and entered its ranks."

"All further attempts then to pull her from this course are sure to fail," he said.

Pastor's Sermon Topic Appropriate

Charles City, Ia., (AP) — Rev. G. M. Ottsen, rector of the Grace Episcopal church here, was busy yesterday writing his Sunday sermon.

When he opened his desk drawer to deposit a check, he discovered approximately $40 in church funds missing.

After notifying police, the slightly perturbed minister went back to her sermon. Its title: "Stop, Thief."

"You can tell everyone," David told a reporter, "that I am very thankful to be home with my wife and child."

Mrs. Yerke conceded the story seemed almost incredible, but she added: "Of course I believe it—what David can tell me."

"When we saw each other at the airport we didn't say a word—just clung to each other for a long time," she continued.

David said his memory started to return about a month ago

Tomorrow, the county-wide spiritual program of the Ministerium, "The Church Points The Way" will continue its marvelous contagion and attractiveness in bringing increased throngs of worshippers into their respective places of worship to return thanks to God through Jesus Christ our Lord for His beneficence to all.

Thanksgiving day, 1951, is now a memory. Yet, we can continue the spirit of that memorable day by translating our individual Thanksgiving into Thanks-Living to God. In millions of American homes it was a day of feasting and festival, with family groups celebrating in warmth and comfort. There were plenty of good things to eat...delicious roast turkey, oyster-chestnut dressing, deep-browned potatoes and candied yams, appetizing mince and pumpkin pies heaped high on tables.

Later, perhaps, there was that big football game, with excited crowds and cheers echoing in the crisp November air as two teams battled on the gridiron; or a drive through the woodland country with its rhododendron graded in her new ermine attire; or perchance roving the upland field in quest of the wily rabbit with nimrod friend.

Contrast this picture with a day in 1777...one hundred and seventy-four years ago. A shivering, half-frozen little group of patriots are encamped in the snow at Valley Forge. They are tattered, shoeless, somber. There is no turkey, no laughter, no warmth save a bivouac fire. General Washington and his men make their frugal meal of potatoes in wind-swept huts.

Yet, probably no group of Americans ever lifted more thankful eyes to God than did these men at Valley Forge on Dec. 18, 1777. It was a day appointed by the Continental Congress as a day of thanks for the surrender of the British General Burgoyne. Washington's order of the day read:

"Tomorrow being the day set aside by the honorable Congress for public thanksgiving and praise, and duty calling us devoutly to express our grateful acknowledgments to God for the manifold blessings He has granted us, the General directs that the army remain in present quarters, and that the chaplains perform Divine service with their several corps and brigades, and earnestly exhort all officers and soldiers whose absence is not indispensably necessary to attend with reverence the solemnities of the day."

Our traditional national Thanksgiving Day commemorates the bountiful harvest given the Pilgrims in 1621, for which a day of thanksgiving and prayer was set by Governor Bradford. It was made a part of our national life by President Lincoln in 1863.

The first Thanksgiving day to be authorized by the Congress of the United States was that of 1789, when Washington was president. The resolution, introduced in the House by Elias Boudinot, of New Jersey, called for prayers to the "great Lord and Ruler of Nations" to "render our national government a blessing to all the people by constantly being a government of wise, just and constitutional laws, directly and faithfully obeyed."

Two Plead Guilty To Theft Counts

Two of the three men arrested last weekend charged with being implicated in game law violations when they wrecked the car they had been riding in to avoid arrest by a game warden, pleaded guilty to larceny and burglary charges when they were haled before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton yesterday morning.

The two defendants Floyd Ernest Pugh, 21, of 823 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, and George McIntyre, of Bushkill, were committed to the Monroe county jail for court. Ball in the cases must be fixed by Judge Fred W. Davis, the justice of the peace not being permitted by law to set the amount under the charges filed.

Both Pugh and McIntyre were part of the trio arrested on charges of violating game laws, earlier this month. The third party, William Houston Joines, 18, of Nashville, Tenn., was not included in the preliminary hearings yesterday.

Officer Charles Allen, of the Stroudsburg police force, was the prosecutor against McIntyre in one of the cases. Officer Allen charged McIntyre with entering the C. C. Scholla Buick garage on W. Main St., Stroudsburg, Nov. 13 when the following articles were reported missing: Five auto wheels with tires, radio with aerial, a distributor, oil filler, battery and 17-F Delco, with approximate value of $425. Most of the loot was recovered.

State Trooper Alexander G. Kearns, of the Stroudsburg State police barracks, was prosecutor in three cases against both Pugh and McIntyre. In his charges he pointed out the two defendants had entered the home of John A. Pennington, Middle Smithfield township, Nov. 14, when they took a case of grade A eggs, valued at $18.

In the second case in which Trooper Kearns is prosecutor, the defendants were accused of entering the summer residence of Henry Schnitzer, Middle Smithfield township, Nov. 15, and taking bed sheets, cooking utensils and kitchen clock, all valued at $150. Considerable of the stolen property in the two cases were recovered.

The third charge against the defendants was that of taking a tarpaulin from the Empire Box Corp., Minisink Hills, Nov. 6, valued at $140.

Officer Allen and Trooper Kearns were the only witnesses. The defendants were not represented by counsel.

The trio are serving a 207-day sentence in jail here on the game law violations and detainees have been lodged by Pike county State police for the three prisoners on burglary charges in that area.

The quintet—Joseph Semasek, Francis Journeik, John Haluska, John Demkovich Jr., and James McGeehan—were taken before Justice of Peace Lester P. Frantz in Myerstown and pleaded guilty to violating section 801 of the game law, injury to livestock.

Each was fined $25 and $3.50 costs and ordered to pay a farmer, named by Spencer, $20 for the pig.

The warden quoted the farmer as saying the hunters this season have shot through wash on the line and killed his guinea fowl.

George Smith Files Account Of Expenses

George L. Smith, of East Stroudsburg RD 1, unsuccessful Republican candidate for the office of register and recorder at the recent election, has filed his expense account at the commissioners' office at the court house in which he stated that his receipts and expenditures did not exceed $150.

Several other accounts were also filed at the office, in which they said they also came under the $150 mark. They follow: Herbert B. Crane, Republican, school director in Stroudsburg; Verdon T. Gilliland, Republican, Fourth ward, East Stroudsburg, council; Mahlon S. Beseker, Cresco, Democrat, county auditor, and Roy J. VanBuskirk, Saylorsburg, Democrat, school director.

Thursday, Dec. 6, is the last day on which to file expense accounts incurred for the November election. In cases where the total receipts and expenditures are not more than $150, it is not necessary to file specific amounts. However when the total is in excess of that amount, definite receipts and expenditures must be included in the report.

Thomas Jones

Jones Takes Lead Role In School Play

Tannersville — The male lead in Pocono Township High school's production of "Date Bait," a comedy in three acts, has been taken over by Thomas Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones.

Jones plays the part of Edward Walker, father of three teen-age daughters — two popular; one who is definitely not "date bait." The situation arising from the youngest daughter's difficulty in finding a suitable suitor form the basis for Betty Knapp's inventively humorous comedy.

In addition to his current effort in the field of drama, Jones is active in numerous school organizations, president of the senior class and junior historical society at the school. He is also president of the Northeastern (Pennsylvania) District of Junior Historical Societies and a member of the newly-formed Allied Youth organization.

"Date Bait" will be presented one night only, November 30, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium in Tannersville.

At 7:30 p. m. A fine program is arranged, Mrs. Louise Riday, pianist, Pocono male quartet and Mrs. Riday's two sons, soloists.

Tax Headache Relief

The Pennsylvania Economy League's diagnosis reveals the state tax situation in a proper light. The League asserts that no income tax or any other new taxes are needed to balance the budget. Economy in administration, the increased revenue from current taxes and general trimming of the budget will save the day.

This ought to ease legislative fractional tension, put Capitol Hill in good humor, spread sunshine among the taxpayers and speed the state to a better day. The League reports is void of bitterness. It is the kind of report to be expected from a group with none but the taxpayers' ax to grind.

And the report is easy to credit in view of the looseness of public administration everywhere. The Hoover Commission, in its report on modernization of the federal government, showed that by economy and efficiency the Washington government could save as much as the new taxes imposed on the people and get more out of its dollar in addition.

Government costs, like other costs, go up. Some increased tax may be inescapable but the size of that tax can be greatly reduced when loose ends are cut off by budget trimmers, services of dubious value abandoned and efficiency of employees demanded.

Pennsylvania's financial headache gets some relief from the Economy League report.

Secretary Smock

Death has claimed, in dramatically tragic fashion, State Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock, striking him down even as he told friends and neighbors of the plans and performances of the department he served.

Ray Smock spent many years in Harrisburg in the service of the Commonwealth.

During his tenures as head of Pennsylvania's highways, the state undertook the most ambitious program of road construction in its entire history, and in the past three years alone almost one-sixth of Pennsylvania's 41,000-mile network has been improved.

Ray Smock died as he lived, busily engaged in the work of the highway development program he served with such enthusiasm. He will be missed by those who were associated with him, who knew him as a kindly and considerate soul whose one ambition was to make his home state paramount in the field of highways.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In Hollywood, Author George Jessel was seized with a fit of melancholy, and with tears rolling down his cheeks, assured apprehensive friends he was going to commit suicide. At the height of his lamentation, the phone bell rang. Jessel listened to the voice on the wire with growing excitement, then cried, "Wonderful! If he's that good, put a hundred on the nose for me at Santa Anita Saturday!"

The very next day, one of the men who had been with Jessel took sick, and things looked so bad Jessel wrote the speech he proposed to deliver at the funeral. But the friend recovered, and called Jessel to say, "I apologize for all the unnecessary trouble I caused you with that bit." "Don't even mention it," Jessel assured him cheerfully. "I won't tear the bit up. I'll just file it."

Hollywood

Hollywood — "The Barefoot Mailman" is an odd little item—a sort of western set in Florida. If I can mix the two ideas, the actors seem to have thoroughly enjoyed making it, and a good deal of their pleasure gets through to us onlookers.

In the title role is Jerome Courtland, hiking along the beach in the pioneer days when marauding beachcombers lurked in the underbrush. They pounce on him from time to time, to raid his letter pouch, like badmen holding up the Pony Express.

One day an unlikely pair hike with him to trading-post Miami. Elegant Robert Cummings conceals behind his flashy clothes and gay manners the fact that he is a swindler on the lam from an unpaid bill. Terry Moore, not a companion or even an acquaintance of his, is returning home costumed as a 12-year old, instead of 19, to keep strange men from getting ideas.

Battles with the beachcombers and Cummings' glib effort to turn a shady profit keep the improbable affair humming pleasantly. There's love rivalry between Cummings and Courtland when they discover Terry's true age. Exciting, jaw-snapping scenes with alligators were made in Florida, where about half of the picture was filmed.

Thomas Hughes' nearly century-old novel of life at Rugby, "Tom Brown's School Days," has been powerfully adapted to the screen by the British. Starring as Tom is John Howard Davies, the thin-faced lad seen previously in "The Rocking Horse Winner" and "Oliver Twist."

As a newcomer at the boys' school, he progresses from timidity to self-confidence and learns to cope with upperclassmen hazing. Robert Newton is a quietly forceful Dr. Arnold, the school head whose efforts to stop brutality are hampered by the code against tattling. James Hayter is a likeable Old Thomas, the gatekeeper.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

My friend, Rabbi Joshua L. Goldberg, has recently been appointed a captain in the Navy of the United States. Of course, captains are often appointed for the Navy, but not in the chaplain corps. This particular one is of the American saga.

Joshua Goldberg was born in Bobrouisk, a small town of southern Russia, into a middle class Jewish household. He was reared in religious orthodoxy and in the spirit of his people, studying in Odessa and Tel Aviv.

In 1916 he came to the United States and enlisted in the army in World War I. Because he knew no English, he was regarded as ignorant, possibly illiterate; that, despite the fact that he knows many European and Ancient languages. English he learned in army barracks from soldiers and books.

After World War I, Joshua Goldberg went to college and studied to be a Rabbi. He was called to pulpits and he engaged in communal activities until

World War II faced this country. He was the first Rabbi to enlist as a naval chaplain in that war. For about 10 years now he has devoted his life to the United States navy.

There are many chaplains in the army and the navy, but none like Josh, as everybody calls him. He knows no other life. He has no other interest. When the war was over, most chaplains in the naval reserve returned to their congregations, but Josh continued in the navy.

It had never before happened that a Rabbi was made the chief chaplain of a naval district, but the time came when Catholics and Protestants demanded a recognition of Joshua Goldberg's untiring and selfless services. And so he was appointed chief chaplain of the third naval district, which embraces New York, Connecticut, and the upper half of New Jersey.

The motto of the navy's chaplain corps is "cooperation without compromise." This slogan could be translated into "we all work together but hold on to our own." Perhaps in no military service have the men of God come so close to each other, despite differences in creed and ritual, as in the United States navy.

A spirit of understanding and tolerance moves these men to work together, stimulating a respect for American ideals. It is not a matter of routine; it is a uniting in a common cause; it is an anxiety to breathe into the boys the Holy Spirit of faith in God and love of country so that when their tour of service is ended, their sense of duty continues.

When it is realized that Rabbi Goldberg has only been an American since he enlisted in World War I, it is an astonishing fact that he has spent nearly a dozen years in the military service of his adopted country. And in that devotion, he has contributed amply to the development of the cooperative genius of the chaplain corps.

In fact, only by a recognition of the importance of the utility of compromise can cooperation be achieved. For only men of principle, of tradition, or sureness of credo can work together in idealism without lowering themselves to the least common denominator. Instead, such men choose the noblest in their own disciplines as the goal for life and work. They aim not at a leveling down but raise their sights to the heights of God's laws of life.

Thus a Rabbi can read the services of the Roman Catholic Church to a boy dying not alone but in the company of a man devoted to the God of all men; thus a Protestant may read in translated Hebrew the prayers that can alone heal the wounds of fear; thus each gives what is needed without giving up what to him seems essential.

A captaincy in the navy is a high honor. Only 18 chaplains are captains; only two are rear admirals. For a Rabbi to have achieved this rank is an honor to all Jews and to America. It is something that the Voice of America can proudly blare to all Europeans, for it shows that in this country achievement knows no racial or religious difference.

The opportunity for rewards should in this country always be open to those who have accepted the opportunity to serve. This promotion will be an encouragement to others to realize that ours is neither a forgetful nor an ungrateful Republic. We sometimes act as though we are both forgetful and ungrateful, but in time the American heart exhibits its warmth and its regard for those who truly love America.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture — Exodus 24: 29-31; 35; 40.

By Newman Campbell
It is a thrilling moment when any Christian congregation builds a new church and dedicates it to the worship of God. The effectiveness of its work in its community thereafter depends on the devotion, loyalty and faith of its members, and their willingness to work with and for it and their pastor.

It is possible that few of the beautiful temples now being built in our country will have their history written down so that people who live three thousand years from now can read it, as we read today the story of the building of the tabernacle which was erected by Moses under the minute instructions of Jehovah.

The list of detailed instructions which Moses received as to its building and furnishing, and of the order of worship prescribed by Jehovah, are far too long to recite in this column, but we can read and thrill to the story of this holy place built in the wilderness while the children of Israel were on their way to the land that had been promised them.

The Lord told Moses to go up unto him with Aaron, his two sons, Nadab and Abihu, and 70 of the elders of Israel. Moses alone was allowed to come near the Lord, however.

Moses told the people Jehovah's words and judgments and they promised to obey him. Early in the morning, Moses rose and built an altar under the hill, with 12 pillars "according to the 12 tribes of Israel." He offered sacrifices upon it, then he, Aaron, his two sons and the 70 elders went up on the mount.

"And they saw the God of Israel: and there was under His feet as it were a paved work of a sapphire stone, and as it were the body of heaven in His clearness."

"And the appearance of the glory of Jehovah was like the devouring fire on the top of the mount in the eyes of the children of Israel."

Then follow the instructions for the tabernacle's building and furnishing, to the most minute details, and the instructions for the priests that were to serve therein and the manner of preparing the sacrifices, and offering them on the altars.

"And there will I meet with the children of Israel; and the Tent shall be sanctified by My glory. And I will sanctify the tent of meeting, and the altar: Aaron also and his sons will I sanctify, to minister to me in the priest's office."

"And I will dwell among the children of Israel, and will be their God. And they shall know that I am Jehovah their God, that brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, that I might dwell among them: I am Jehovah their God."

Moses gathered all the children of Israel together and said to them: "These are the words which the Lord hath commanded, that ye should do them," emphasizing that six days they were to labor, but on the seventh — the holy day — they were to do no work. The further commands of the Lord Moses gave them, saying:

"Take ye from among you an offering unto the Lord: whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the Lord; gold, and silver, and brass. Then followed a long list of articles the people were to bring as gifts for the tabernacle."

"And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses."

"And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the Lords offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments."

What beastly row. American critics have always serenaded the Oliviers, the Rex Harrisons, Gertrude Lawrence and Beatrice Lillie to name a few. . . . One of Wilson Mizner's most quips was about a poker game in which one player tossed his loaded wallet on the table. . . . "And the rulers brought onyx stones, and stones to be set, for the ephod, and for the breastplate; and spice, and oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the sweet incense."

"The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman, whose heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work, which the Lord had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses."

Under Moses the work went on until, at last he lighted the lamps before the Lord in the finished and furnished temple, and "so Moses finished the work."

"Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. . . . And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Israel went onward in all their journeys."

"But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not till that day that it was taken up. . . . For the cloud of the Lord was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeys."

This is the story of the building of one tabernacle by devoted and "willing hearts," the type of spirit we should all bring to the building and service of our own temples.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Politics bores me."

I thanked her for the compliment — and let it go at that.

But I know that other women feel the same. They write me so and they have told me so.

To them I say "Shame on you. It is you women whom politics bores who are responsible for the mess in which this country finds itself today."

The word "politics" comes from the Greek word "polites." "Polites," means "citizen." Therefore, politics means "concerning citizens."

I have always thought that women in America ARE citizens and therefore anything that concerns citizens should interest them as much as the latest fashion news, the price of food or the latest scandals out of Movieland.

Mind you, I have nothing against women. Nor am I trying to interpret politics to you or to write a political column.

I am looking at life, and politics — fortunately or unfortunately — has become just as much a part of life as the daily bread we eat.

If women took more of an interest in politics many of the political evils now in existence would disappear.

If women took more interest in politics the grafters in politics would soon cease to exist.

Women have a peculiar quality which men don't possess.

"Intuition" it's called.

I have definite proof of woman's intuition.

Whenever I try to fool my wife — her intuition tells her (and me) that I'm a phoney.

Just let any man try to tell his wife a lie and see whether he can get by with it.

Politics is a game based on deceit. Politicians — not all but certainly a whole lot of them — are deceivers.

We men seem to be too dumb to see through the phoney and the lying politicians.

But I don't think they can fool the women, if the women will only take an interest in politics.

The great majority of women read the funny pages religiously. My own wife is very unhappy when she misses her Blondie or her Rip Kirby or her Jimmy Hat-lo.

Why not try a new tack? Why not read the political news just like you would read the funny pages?

You women will be surprised how entertaining a lot of Truman's or Acheson's or any other politician's talks can be if you will only read them like you read your funny papers.

Follow your intuition. Read between the lines.

You women are all bargain hunters.

Why not consider your political candidates as so much merchandise?

Every one of them tries to picture himself as a bargain for which you should fall.

With your intuition you should be able to tell a REAL bargain from a phony.

And if you do, you women should certainly be able to swing the next election.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Bird That Came To Dinner
We had trouble making out the strange visitor today, but finally found it to be the Ghost of the Thanksgiving Turkey. It had been enjoying a dream and insisted upon relating all the details.

"Did I have a wonderful Thanksgiving?" the bird exclaimed. "Boy, did I make him suffer!"

"Who?" we asked.

"The old man," the bird replied. "They brought him to me and said I would have to carve. . . . You should have seen me! . . . I looked and jabbed him all over the place. . . . The carving knife was sharp, but I handled it like an oar, and what fun!"

"You might have made a clean job," we suggested.

"Not a chance! . . . I butchered the guy! . . . Kept sticking the fork in the wrong place and shoving him all over the platter. . . . Wrong grip and all that! . . . Old-Rip-and-Tear-'Em, that's me."

"Did you have to be so cruel?" "It was a pleasure. . . . You should have seen me working on his second joint! . . . Baby, I gave him the works in that area! . . . Never thought I could twist and pry so well. . . . My wrenching form was perfect, too!"

"Couldn't you carve properly?" "Why should I? . . . Here was my chance to get even. . . . Retribution! . . . Revenge. . . . I couldn't have messed him up more if I had been using a jimmy. Best fun came when I got him off the platter!"

"Off the platter?" "Yeah. Had him off table and onto seat of chair in short order. . . . He tried to get away and fell onto the floor but I got him back after a brief battle. . . . Had a lot of fun with his drumstick. . . . You know those directions about 'anchoring thigh with knife and pressing leg down firmly until joint snaps?' . . . How I gumbled up that routine! . . . Then there were the instructions on cutting the wing. . . . 'Stick fork in meaty part of wing and start cutting at angle about an inch above spot where wing joins body. . . . When you hit joint, run knife through cartilage! . . . Ignored every word and just performed like a bulldozer.'"

"Couldn't you have shown a little form?" we asked.

"No use slicing when you can hack. . . . What's form when you can win the hard way. The cheering was great!"

"What cheering?" we asked.

"From the cheering section occupied by the Ghosts of all Thanksgiving Turkeys," the bird replied. "It was packed. . . . Cheer leaders, megaphones, songs, somersaults and everything. You should have heard the cries of 'Butcher the bum!' . . . 'Massacre him, big boy!' . . . 'Give him the dull side of the knife again!' . . . and 'Remember what he and his kind did to us!'"

"How did things wind up?"

"Turned the tables on him completely. . . . Won every round. Justice is justice!" said the bird, whose dream had obviously been most realistic and highly satisfactory.

Our own capsule dramatic critiques. . . . Love and Let Love (Affairs of Ginger); Barefoot in Athens (Call Me Socrates); Top Banana (Barefoot in Burlesque); Paint Your Wagon (Poke-lah-ma); Two on the Aisle (Burt Capades); The Fourposter (Paint Your Boudoir). . . . Greatest Story Ever Told, a Sunday night program that has moved millions, goes on video soon. . . . It blazed the way for religious programs, leading to ones such as "Television Chapel," which began at St. Patrick's and last week portrayed at Temple Israel the impressive ritual of the Jewish faith. . . . Nothing can blast bigotry more than the extension of these telecasts of the services of all religions, showing the beauty in each and every one. . . . "Meat Men Say Prices Will Drop" — headline. . . . Wanna bet?

Governor Dewey heads the Republican Finance Committee giving a $100-a-plate dinner at the Waldorf. What can you get to eat these days for $100? Is it a demonstration of party frugality?

He fumbled much
But he kept intact

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Seems as if the powers-that-be might let your Thanksgiving dinner digest before they rush you into Christmas. Really, you got that same panicky "one-shopping-day-till-Christmas" feeling if you ventured down town yesterday.

It wasn't just that Santa Claus had arrived, nor that the stores were decked in Christmas trim, or that the wide-eyed youngsters were crowding the streets after their glimpse of Santa Claus. But the shopping crowds began to affect you with a sort of bargain-sale madness.

However, there's some comfort in having teen-age children old enough to be taking small nieces and nephews instead of having themselves taken. Never saw so many children, and so many hard-headed parents, lugging snow suit jackets, caps, mittens, rubbers in one hand and trying to keep track of offspring with the other.

The rain was an added complication, and many a family supped late must have had the youngsters talking their heads off about Santa Claus, and the mother nodding her head off in exhaustion.

Though if we're honest, we'll have to admit that it's mostly sour grapes we're trying to be so smug against. You notice there were almost as many grandparents as parents who'd mustered up a child to bring to see Santa arrive.

Hunter Comes Upon Three Sleeping Bear, Kills One

Marshall's Creek—Seven hunters in the Four-Mile Hill section came up with their own version of the story about the three bears yesterday. In the traditional story it's Goldilocks who does the sleeping. The tables were turned, however, when the hunting party came on a group of three bears in a dense scrub oak area, all huddled together and all fast asleep.

Frank Smith, Marshall's Creek, the man who spotted the snoozin' bears, says he had no sooner seen them than one of the bears woke up and sprang toward him.

Smith fired twice. The first shot grazed the bear. The second hit him in the neck and severed the jugular vein.

Smith, who was making a drive with two others of the party, was 15 to 20 feet away from the bear when he fired the second shot.

Other members of the hunting party were Fred Batchler, Jacob Smith, Jack Bathchler and Fire Chief Ralph Miller, all of Marshall's Creek and John Myers, Bushkill, Chester Heater, Craigs Meadows.

During the firing in which the first bear was killed the two others jumped the gun and got away.

Rites Conducted For Mrs. Marsh

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth S. Marsh, widow of John G. Marsh, W. Main St., Stroudsburg, were held at the Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, officiated. Pall bearers were: Floyd E. Fred A. Paul M., Stanley J. and Eugene Fetherman and William H. Tucker. Excitement still prevailed in Bangor yesterday and undoubtedly will last throughout the present weekend, following the Slaters' surprise 18-7 victory over Pen Argyl on Thanksgiving Day. As a reward to the team, Bangor High school will enjoy another holiday on Monday. The added day of absence from the class room means that the kids of the area will have a well deserved five-day vacation. Bangor began and finished the 1951 season with victories, although the road between was plenty rough at times.

Bangor's decision over the highly favored Pen Argyl eleven means that East Stroudsburg High tied the Green Waves for second place in the Lehigh-Northampton League football standings with three victories and a pair of setbacks. Nazareth's 41-0 verdict over Wilson Borough, also on Thanksgiving, more than decided the outcome of the flag race. Joe Whalen and Howard Atwell turned in a swell job of broadcasting the 6Bangor-Pen Argyl game, although the overflow crowd made visibility almost zero.

The Bangor victory meant that Coach Fred "Benny" Leonard bowed to the Slaters for the first time since taking over the head job at Pen Argyl. Leonard's record against the Bangor contingent is three wins, a tie and a single setback. Coach Granville Evans' win over his old Moravian College teammate and football co-captain must have been doubly sweet. Evans had waited a long time to chalk in the limelight, and he certainly should be taking his share of bows now, as he turned in a magnificent job with the talent on hand.

Evans, who served for many seasons as assistant grid mentor at Bangor, opened the present campaign with a group of inexperienced boys. However, he was able to get the most out of the talent at the proper time, as evidenced against Stroudsburg and last Thursday at Pen Argyl. There are several outstanding coaching feats covering the entire past campaign, but those turned in by Evans and Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg, rate at the top of my list.

A large group of people from the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area were on hand to watch the Bangor-Pen Argyl contest, serving to prove further that our own area needs a Thanksgiving Day classic of major importance, or one of the following. Saturday, Joe "Ducky" DeFranco, a resident of Roseto and a former North Atlantic League umpire, was among those watching Thursday's grid battle. DeFranco reports he is in line for a promotion to class "B" or maybe "A" ball next season.

Don Carbone, former Pen Argyl High backfield great, is scheduled to take his entrance exam at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in December. If Carbone makes the grade, he will be a welcome addition to the ESSTC grid machine. Don held down second base for West Bangor in the Blue Mountain League last summer. "Smilin' Jim Thurston, former publicity agent for ESSTC, along with the athletic lines, prior to his graduation last June, played the Stroudsburgs a visit yesterday. Jim is now social director at Pocomo Gardens.

Bowlers of Monroe County are asked to remember that any man having rolled 15 games during the present campaign is eligible for the Monroe County Singles and Doubles tournament to be rolled next month. Rumors making the rounds stating that leagues not sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress couldn't be represented in the tournament. This writer has been reminded that the report is absolutely false, as the tournament, now entering its third year, has never been sanctioned by the ABC.

Sam Russell, new Stroudsburg High basketball coach, is plainly worried over the defensive play of his charges. The opening day of the season's only meeting of the Lehigh Valley League may be its most important session in history—at least one of the most important. Northampton's 20-0 victory over Catawauqua was probably the biggest of all the Thanksgiving Day upsets. It was the only victory registered by Northampton this season.

Fred Prender, West Chester State Teachers College halfback, will be named the top scorer in Pennsylvania collegiate football ranks, although the official announcement won't be made until Tuesday morning, on this page. Well, that's about all for today and for the next week, as yours truly is taking a week's vacation from this department, but not from sports.

Stroudsburg High Cagers Face Daily Practice Sessions In Preparedness For Opening Battle

Stroudsburg High school, preparing for its opening game of the basketball season at Bangor High on Tuesday, December 4, went through a stiff scrimmage session against Easton High school yesterday, on the latter's home floor.

Coach Sam Russell is plainly worried over the poor defensive play of his charges, but is hopeful of having the difficulty ironed out by opening day. However, the Mountaineers were forced to play without the services of Captain Alden "Red" Fetherman, who is still bothered with an ankle injured in football yesterday.

Gene Caski is also recovering for a damaged ankle, but saw plenty of action in yesterday's scrimmage.

Turnout

Russell reported last night that approximately 30 candidates reported for the winter sport this year. However, the former Lafayette cager plans carrying 12 on the varsity at the most and possibly only ten.

The new mentor did say that the junior varsity contingent will probably be larger than in the past. The yearlings will be under the direction of Coach Carlton Berger.

Russell plans workouts every day except Sunday from now until the opening of the season. After the first game the youthful cager mentor may drop the Saturday drills.

Stroudsburg is being schooled in the art of man-to-man defense and the fast break on offense.

Those returning from last year's varsity machine that are reportedly showing up well are Fetherman, Caski, Jack Newell, Karl Weingartner, Dave Everitt, Dick Posten and Don Garaventi.

Bangor Lists Court Slate

Bangor — Bangor High school face a list of 18 basketball games. It was announced last night. However, there are two open dates on the list that are expected to be filled in the near future.

Opening Date

Stroudsburg High is the only foe not in the Lehigh-Northampton League on the schedule at the present time. The Slaters play host to the Mountaineers on Tuesday, December 4, then invade Stroudsburg on Friday, December 7.

The Slaters, under the guidance of Coach John Heard, open the Lehigh-Northampton League slate against Hellertown, at Bangor.

Cage Officials To Hold Meeting

Jack Kist, president of the Stroudsburg Chapter of PIAA Basketball Officials, announced last night that the organization would hold an important business meeting at the Monroe County YMCA Monday, at 7:30 p. m.

Those interested in joining the chapter or coaches and principals of high schools in Monroe County are urged to attend.

Accepted Bids

Tennessee has accepted a bid to play Maryland in the Sugar Bowl, while thrice-beaten Kentucky meets the Southwest Conference champion in the Cotton Bowl. If Tennessee wins, Dallas gets a four-time loser come January 1.

The Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative can be decided at Evanston, Ill. Illinois can clinch the trip west by defeating or tying Northwestern before a sellout throng of 54,000. The Illini are unbeaten, but were held to a scoreless tie last week by Ohio State. Furthermore, Northwestern has clipped Illinois the last four years running.

Wisconsin and Purdue are still in the running if Illinois falters.

Marion Eased Out As Pilot Of Cards In Unexpected Move

St. Louis (AP)—Marty Marion, Mr. Shortstop of another year, was eased out as a manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in a surprise move yesterday.

Owner Fred Saigh wouldn't say why the rookie manager was given the gate but it generally was believed Saigh felt Marion lacked aggressiveness, despite the club's third place finish last season.

Saigh insisted he had no one in mind for the job. Immediate speculation on his number one choice for the job pointed at Eddie Stanky, the New York Giant's fiery second baseman.

Previous statements by Saigh and Marion indicated that their conference yesterday was merely to settle the question of whether Marion's contract would be renewed for one or two years.

The unexpected announcement was made by Saigh after he had talked with Marion for an hour.

Statement

"We are not renewing Mr. Marion's contract as manager of the Cardinals," he said, "No comment on reasons. We have no successor in mind."

The 33-year-old Marion, one of the game's best shortstops until he was sidelined by an ailing knee before the start of the 1951 season, said it "came as a complete

Henry Surprises With Eighth Round Knockout Of Baker

The hulking Baker, unbeaten in 26 previous fights, appeared on his way to another win when he walked into the dynamite left from Henry, wobbling back against the ropes from the force of the hook. The mustachioed Negro sagged between the two lower ropes and fell on his back with his legs up in the air while Referee Ruby Goldstein counted ten.

Mystery

When Dr. Vincent Nardiello, the state athletic commission doctor, reached Baker, the fighter blinked and said "what the hell hit me?"

It was just as much of a surprise to the small crowd of 3,515 that paid $11.236. Even Henry was bewildered by his sudden success against the fourth-ranked heavy in the world.

Baker, who looks like Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn pitcher, was out front on the card of Judge Frank Forbes 5-2 and Judge Joe Agnello 4-3 when the end came. Referee Goldstein had it 3-3-1. The AP card showed Baker on top 4-2-1.

The flash ending came after a slow seventh round in which the fans stomped their feet and clapped for more action. Henry obliged by stepping up the pace against the favored Baker.

With his right leg over the bottom rope and his left pointing skyward, Baker sat in confusion on the apron. He was trying to pull himself together at the final count but wasn't close to beating it.

Throughout the bout Henry had bothered Baker with that hook. He was so successful in the first round that Baker came out for the second with his right held high to block the hook. It worked most of the time, except for a Henry flurry in the third.

Hollingsworth In Running For Job

Rock Island, Ill. (AP) — Al Hollingsworth, 41, former major league pitcher, who has won three pennants in four years of managing in the St. Louis Cardinal system, yesterday was listed as a possible Cardinal replacement for deposed Marty Marion.

Hollingsworth, visiting here, said he would be definitely interested in the job.

Pitcher

A pitcher for the Phils, Reds, Dodgers, Senators and Browns, Hollingsworth's Houston club won the 1951 Texas league title. In 1950 he directed Omaha to the Western league crown and in 1949 had an Interstate pennant winner at Al-lentown.

State Battles Pitt

Pittsburgh (AP) — Rated a seven-point underdog in its fifty-first grid clash with the University of Pittsburgh, Penn State will attempt today to turn a trick it hasn't accomplished since the years of World War Two—beat the Pitt Panther twice in a row.

State's Nittany Lions took a 21-20 hair-raiser from Pitt last year after dropping five of the six previous games to the Panthers. The beatings ended Penn State's three-year supremacy in 1941, '42 and '43.

Transportation To Game

Reading (AP) — Despite a bus strike in Reading, fans planning to attend the first annual Pretzel bowl game today will have transportation to Municipal stadium.

The Reading Bus Company and striking drivers have agreed to cooperate with officials of the Shrine-sponsored event.

Bucknell Will Probably Skip Bowl Contests

Lewisburg, Pa. (AP) — Bucknell University, which set a new offensive team record this fall, probably won't play in any of the New Year's day bowl games.

A spokesman for the university said that Bucknell already has rejected a bid to play in the Tangerine bowl at Orlando, Fla., and indicated that it probably would do likewise with an invite to the Sun bowl at El Paso, Texas.

The Thundering Herd ran its unbeaten string to 13 by sweeping through nine foes during the season just completed and ranked first in total offense, rushing offense and rushing defense in the east. Its per game average gain of more than 463 yards broke by one yard the old standard set by Army in 1945.

No Word

There was no official word on the Sun bowl bid, but it was expected to be forthcoming over the weekend after President Horace Hildreth, former governor of Maine, returns from a visit to his home state.

Bucknell apparently is not interested in playing in a minor bowl. A spokesman indicated that the university might be receptive to a bid from a major bowl such as the Orange at Miami, Fla., where Bucknell beat Miami 26-0 in 1935.

But Van C. Kussow, chairman of the Orange bowl schedule committee, said flatly that "Bucknell is not under consideration."

Bucknell's coach, Harry Lawrence, told a reporter that he opposes the idea of bowl games, stating that "it puts too much pressure on a college kid to worry about a bowl game. The boys have to study pretty hard up here."

Bucknell, however, left the door open for a possible change of mind. Nothing definite would be decided before Dr. Hildreth's return. And Lawrence added that he was voicing his own opinions, not necessarily those of the university.

Tennis Fever Sweeps Australia On Eve Of New South Wales Tournament Title Action

Sydney, Australia (AP) — Tennis fever swept Australian sports circles yesterday as the United States' doubles combination of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert met defeat and two outsiders in the Davis Cup singles calculations prepared to meet for the New South Wales championships.

Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, Australia's number one doubles team, scored a brilliant uphill victory to turn back Schroeder and Trabert in five sets. A crowd of 10,000 cheered one of the greatest doubles matches seen here but this only whetted the appetites of the tennis fans who anticipate a great singles battle today between Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and young Mervyn Rose of Australia.

Seixas, the slim 170-pound number eight player of the U. S., and Rose, the 21-year-old lefthander of the Aussie, weren't even supposed to be around for the finals of this tourney which will go far toward selecting personnel for the Davis Cup matches.

Upsets Sedgman But the 28-year-old, six-foot-one Seixas startled the tennis big-wigs by upsetting Sedgman—Australia's number one in the semi-finals. Rose, the number three Aussie behind Sedgman and McGregor, beat the veteran Schroeder in the other semi-final.

If Rose can turn back Seixas, he may move McGregor out of a singles job in the Davis Cup play. Likewise, the aggressive, net-storming Seixas, might get the U. S. number two Davis Cup spot behind Dick Savitt, the Wimbledon and Australian champion from Orange, N. J.

Sedgman defeated Seixas in the finals of the nationals at Forest Hills, N. Y., last summer, but the Philadelphia's fine play earned him a trip with the Davis Cup squad to Australia.

Seixas blazed through the New South Wales singles tourney without losing a set until he met Sedgman Thursday, then dropped only one.

Schroeder and Trabert, the possible U. S. doubles combination for the Davis Cup, bowed in a tense two hour and 15-minute battle with Sedgman and McGregor, 6-8, 4-4, 4-6, 6-2, 10-8. Five times the U. S. players were within two points of victory. But each time the Aussie rallied.

Archery Group Holds Matches

Members of the Pocono Archery association held three shooting matches recently at the new range donated by the Glen Brook Country club, on the golf organization's property.

Contests for the day consisted of two 25-yard events, a single 50 yard match and one of 75 yards.

High Scores

High scorers for the day were Ray Mery, 129; Ray Catudal, 120; Henry "Hank" Stettler, 108; Clint Deihl, 105 and John Fisher, 93 points.

Jake Kintz won distance honors with a shot of 308 yards.

The next meeting of the association will be held on December 12, at the Indian Queen, at 8 p. m.

ESSTC To Hold Wrestling Program

George Ockershausen, wrestling coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will conduct an instruction program in the new gymnasium beginning Monday for an indefinite period. The classes in wrestling will be held each day from 4:15 to 5:30 p. m.

Team

Ockershausen has launched the plan in an effort to interest some of the male students in coming out for the wrestling team this year. Practice will begin in earnest following the Christmas holiday vacation.

Whelan will be running in the offensive backfield with John Jaekel, the passing star, Lindy Hull and Hal Seidenberg.

In Penn's backfield, the starters will be Noel Schmidt, who suffered a concussion against Army last week, passer Chet Cornog, Billy Deuster and Joe Varatlic.

The biggest Franklin Field crowd of the season, upwards of 60,000, is expected for the traditional battle.

A half-dozen other players are hobbling about with lesser hurts, but Munger reports his team "all fired up" for the Cornell game. The Big Red from above Cayuga's

MEMBERS OF THE POCONO Mountain Ski club are shown here selecting an original shoulder patch for the organization at a meeting last night.

Whittle Heads Ski Club; Big Pocono Slopes Revamped

Renewed activity of the Pocono Mountain Ski club resulted in the election of officers at a club meeting last night in Penn-Stroud ballroom.

Officers for the 1951-52 season will be: Bill Whittle, president; Buzz Bensinger, vice president; Carolyn Lapinsky, recording secretary; Phyllis Price, corresponding secretary and Tom Shanley, treasurer.

Chad Bensinger, who acted as temporary presiding officer until after election of regular officials, emphasized the fact that the Ski club is interested in "getting as many people out on the ski run as possible this year". This interest, he continued, extends to high school students and others in the area who have only a rudimentary knowledge of skiing as a sport, but would welcome instruction.

Focal point of all club activities will be the revamped courses on Big Pocono. Two towns are available for use this year, according to Bensinger.

As a result of club members' efforts the beginners' slope on Big Pocono has now been considerably improved and enlarged. The old slope on the west side has also been reconditioned.

THE OFFICE FORCE SPENDS TWO WEEKS COMILING AN EIGHTY-FOUR PAGE REPORT....

Actor Richard Gordon's First Big Chance Came In Play That Flopped In Three Weeks

By Leonard Randolph

The story of Richard Gordon's life reads like a history of American show business—from the "one night stand" to soap opera.

Visiting friends in Stroudsburg last week, Gordon had a chance to reminisce about his fifty yards in the American theater.

The man who has portrayed "Dr. Abbott" on the radio serial "Our Gal Sunday" for the past ten years began his career in the legitimate theater like almost every other young actor—without a job. Following his graduation from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, Gordon pounded the pavement from one producer's office to the other.

"Back in those days" producers did their own hiring, dependent almost entirely upon direct contact with the actor.

Gordon and Pedro De Cordova, a classmate at the academy, were sent to the office of E. G. Sothern, a big name in the theatre at that time. Sothern offered the two young actors $35 a week to "carry a spear" in one of his productions.

Gordon made "one of the biggest mistakes" of his life when he turned down the offer. De Cordova took the small part with Sothern; Gordon went "on the road" as leading man with "The Village Postmaster". Ten years later, when Gordon quit the touring company with which he had been associated, his friend De Cordova was a featured performer on Broadway.

Ten years on the road had taught Gordon a lesson which he didn't intend to forget. He settled down in New York, determined not to go on the road again, no matter how good the part or the pay.

In a producer's office one day, Gordon overheard a conversation between Doug Fairbanks Sr. and an agent. Fairbanks was discussing a role in a play for which he had demanded $100 per week. From that point on, Gordon set his sights on that figure as a salary for working in a Broadway play.

Less than a year later, he got it.

Dick's first "big" part was landed as the result of a peculiar brand of ingenuity which actors alone seem to possess. "At liberty" for nearly a year, he had fallen into a habit of dropping in at the office of Charles Frohman, a producer whose reputation was second to none in the roller coaster world of show business.

For months the man behind the desk had met Gordon's inquiries with the standard "Sorry. Nothing today." One day, however, Gordon got wind of a small part in a new Frohman production for which the office had been unable to find a suitable actor.

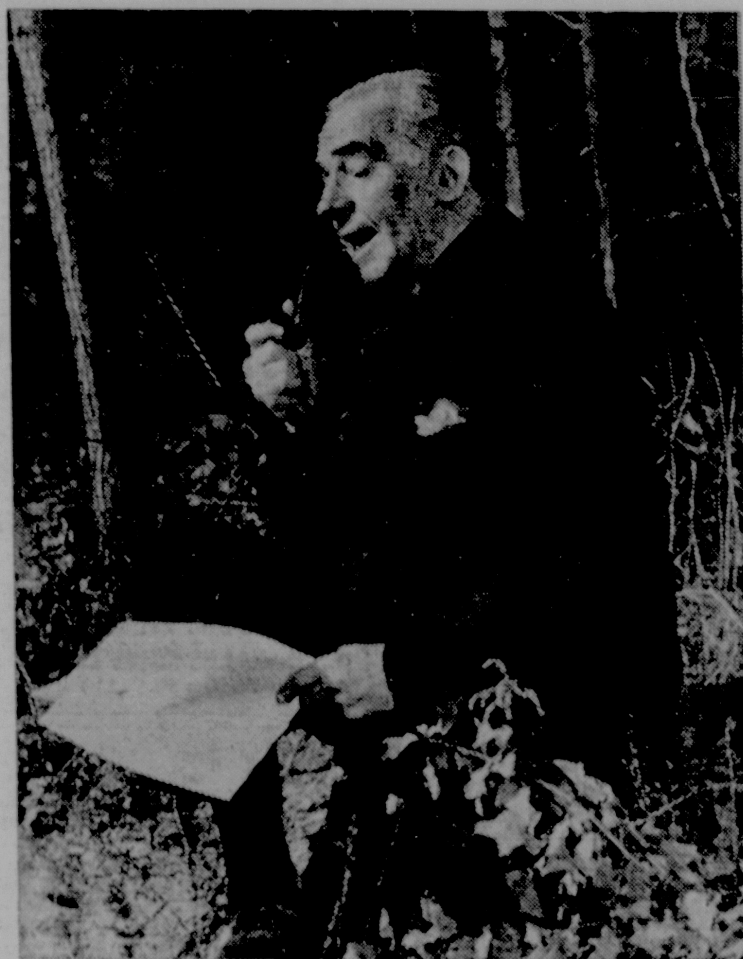

He offered to "read the part until you find another man to fill it". After heckling the agent two hours, he was given permission to "walk through" the part, a mid-aged (and infatuated) Russian duke who discovered his sweetheart (a Spanish dancer) in the apartment of another man.

The "duke" was given only three speeches at the end of the second act. Gordon read the part with sound and fury. At the end of the fifth rehearsal he was called to play the role in the Broadway production—at a salary of $100 a week.

When "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind Him" opened, Gordon and other members of the cast received good critical reviews—but the play flopped. It lasted a "little over three weeks."

During the next few seasons, however, Gordon's star began to rise in the glittering heaven of the Great White Way. He supported Ethel Barrymore in "The Kingdom of God" and was featured with Judith Anderson in "Behold, the Bridegroom." Both plays were well received by critics and audiences alike.

Gordon and Francis Wilson were instrumental in the founding of Actor's Equity, the first effort to establish an organization to protect the right of actors against increasing unfairness on the part of booking agencies. Equity succeeded in improving conditions for the working actor. Today it is one of the most influential and important employe organizations in the nation.

Shortly after the formation of the new society, Gordon was involved in a series of conflicts with its officers over the admission of radio and motion picture actors.

The two industries had reached a position of national importance, artistically and financially. Gordon and a few others in Equity believed it was time to open the ranks of the society to the "new artists."

After five years on the Equity council, Gordon was "eased out." He took more and more jobs in radio until, at last, he was concentrating entirely on the newer medium.

With radio's power as entertainment a dollars-and-cents fact which even the most blind officials could not ignore, Equity eventually reversed its original decision and appointed a man to "organize" the radio industry. This man, in turn, contacted Gordon. The collaboration between the two men resulted in a radio artists' guild—AFRA—in which Gordon served in an advisory capacity.

On the networks, Gordon originated the role of "Sherlock Holmes"; starred in "The Bishop and the Gargoyle"; "The Biblical Hour" and radio guild productions of Shakespeare. A big man with a moderately deep, resonant voice, Gordon possesses an amazing vocal versatility which has allowed him more freedom in characterization than most "radio actors" have.

It is the voice, which serves as the prime criterion in the hiring of an actor for a specific part in radio, which has succeeded also in depriving some excellent actors of a reputation. Gordon's name is virtually unknown today to the millions of soap opera fans who hear him daily as "Doctor Abbott" on "Our Gal Sunday."

During the past few years, Gordon has branched out and away from show business in an effort to attain a degree of security. With money he had saved during the long, lean years in the theater, he invested in an office building in New York which he now rents to doctors and technicians. Income from this "business" has provided the cushion necessary to the actor who wishes to sit back and pick his own roles.

As Gordon sees it, acting today is a "high pressure business, full of salesmen." An older man, Gordon says, "doesn't stand much chance. The young actors get all the jobs."

Since 1945, Gordon has acted in three movies—the controversial "Birth of a Baby"; "13 Rue Madeleine" which starred Jimmy Cagney and the recently released "Saint Benny the Dip" in which he played the part of a priest opposite Roland Young and Dick Haymes.

Call Issued For More Blood Donors

Newfoundland — Area residents will have an opportunity to contribute to the armed forces blood program here Wednesday when the Red Cross bloodmobile visits the Greene-Dreher-Sterling school between 1 and 7 p. m.

The importance of blood plasma in the treatment of casualties of the armies of the United Nations is emphasized almost daily in dispatches from the battlefield in Korea. The communiques also point out that the life-saving fluid is also in critically short supply in the combat zone.

Joseph Jacobs, chairman of the local Rotary club's recruitment committee, has reported that donor pledges have not been coming in as rapidly as had been expected.

He pointed out that although an individual failed to pledge a contribution to the blood bank, he or she may still contribute blood during the unit's visit here by appearing during the designated hours.

Mrs. Warren P. Murphy, Hawley, Wayne county chairman of the Red Cross blood program, has also emphasized that "every effort will be made to process those who have not made pledges." The need is so great, she said, that no one will be refused, providing that the person's medical history will allow the donation.

Any healthy person who is between the ages of 21 and 59, inclusive, is a potential donor. Minors of at least 18 years of age may contribute with parental permission.

All technical aspects of the operation of the bloodmobile are supervised by qualified physicians, assisted by registered nurses and technicians. Non-technical work is done by Red Cross volunteers.

Mrs. Joseph Jacobs will be in charge of the latter here Wednesday. Mrs. Thomas Barry, R.N., heads the nurses committee.

Persons interested in contributing blood may obtain further information by contacting Mr. Jacobs or any member of the Newfoundland Rotary club.

Car Skids On Wet Macadam, Hits Shed On Bonser Farm

Brodheads—State police of the Brodheads sub-station were called to investigate a one-car accident eight miles east of Palmerton when a car collided with a shed on the property of Charles P. Bonser, Kunkletown RD 2, at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. There were no personal injuries. Police are continuing their investigation.

According to police, Lloyd Donald Hansler, 22, of Kunkletown RD 1, was driving east on the macadam highway between Little Gap and Palmerton during the rain when his 1948 coupe got out of control on the slippery road, swung off and rammed into the corner of the shed on the Bonser property with such force the machine swung around and the rear of the machine struck the building.

The front end of the car was damaged to the extent of $80 and the shed $100, police said.

Trooper C. W. Heist, who investigated the crash, later took Hansler into custody on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended. The defendant appeared before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton, Stroudsburg, last night when he pleaded guilty and was committed to the Monroe county jail in default of $500 bail.

The local police also investigated a two-car crashup at Snyder'sville at 4:45 p. m. Damage was only $10 to each vehicle, they said.

Grover Counterman, 58, of 180 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, driving a 1936 coupe turned off Route 209 onto a dirt road, when the left front fender of the 1941 sedan operated by Arthur Knecht Jr., 23, of Long Pond, collided with the right rear fender of the Counterman vehicle, police said.

Knecht told the police that Counterman had failed to signal his intention of making the turn. Rain was falling at the time.
